Ecobel Medical Spa & Anti-Aging Clinic

Is Atlanta's premier aesthetics and wellness center with Over 30 years of experience in beauty and aesthetics. In 1986, Ecobel Founder, Le Yen Tran, came to Atlanta and put to work her vast knowledge and passion of skincare, servicing the men and women in Buckhead and the surrounding metro Atlanta area.

With the skills gathered from her studies at the Ecole Internationale d'Esthetiques in Paris, France, and the Italian school Emmanuelle Rossetti, several years later, Le Yen began her first full service aesthetics business.

In 1997, Le Yen Esthetiques, a surgical and paramedical practice with three board certified plastic surgeons, became a launch pad for Le Yen Skin Wellness, now known as Ecobel Medical Spa & Anti-Aging Clinic.

Ecobel successfully combines Le Yen's knowledge of scientific medical based techniques with extensive training in the use of herbal and botanical compounds for skincare. Her study of herbology and botanicals in 2000 completed her unique East/West blend of skincare that Ecobel customers benefit from today.

Ecobel's most recently added branch of its business, clinical wellness, focuses on the healing power of safe and effective treatments such as injectable peptide therapy, bioidentical hormone replacement therapy, and light bed therapy, to combat internal and external aging.

Le Yen expanded her knowledge on inner wellness and anti-aging even further when studying under world-renowned anti-aging endocrinologist Dr. Thierry Hertoghe in Belgium.

With real work experience in every aspect provided at Ecobel, and the culmination of more than 30 years of experience, every service and every technique has been developed and approved by a professional visionary that lives and breathes beauty. ## INJECTABLES

Dermal Fillers

One of the most popular non-invasive cosmetic treatments available today, dermal fillers are a tried-and-true way of adding volume to the skin. With a long track record, dermal fillers help recontour flat features, smooth out stubborn wrinkles and give the face a plump, youthful appearance. Some are better for adding lift and volume, while others are effective for filling in bothersome lines and wrinkles. Ultimately, the goal is to restore the face to a youthful, rejuvenated, plump appearance.

At Ecobel, we offer a wide array of different injectables and dermal fillers to target lines and wrinkles and add volume, including:

Neurotoxins

Fine lines and wrinkles are a part of aging, but you can achieve smooth, wrinkle-free skin with routine injections of neurotoxins. Whether you choose Botox, Xeomin, or Dysport, these wrinkle reducers help smooth out existing lines and wrinkles while preventing new ones from forming by temporarily paralyzing the muscles that cause etched-in wrinkles.

When injected into the muscle, neurotoxins help reduce the look of fine lines and wrinkles caused by repeated facial expressions, like frowning, squinting, and smiling. Although using neurotoxins to counteract the effects of aging is their most popular use, like smoothing out lines on the forehead, in between the eyebrows (the 11s) and around the eyes, improving a gummy smile, flipping up the lip, slimming the jaw muscles, there are other medical, non-aesthetic benefits to injecting Botox and neurotoxins. For example, it helps treat chronic migraines, an overactive bladder, hyperhidrosis, and even cervical dystonia.

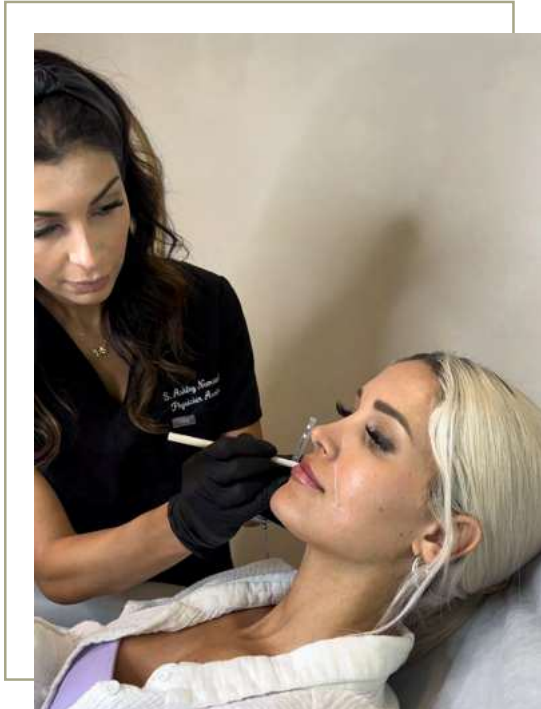

The effects of neurotoxins are temporary and last three to four months when reducing the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles caused by facial expressions. The injections work fast (in a few days to one week) and are an easy treatment—it's pretty much painless, although some patients say the injections feel like a tiny pinch.

PDO Threads

Absorbable PDO (polydioxanone) threads work wonders as a temporary, minimally invasive option for lifting the skin on the cheeks, jowls, jawline, forehead, and neck to give a better definition. The best thing about absorbable PDO threads is that after they dissolve, they continue to build collagen and improve the overall look of the lift. The goal of using PDO threads in the face to lift and enhance the angle of facial features while minimizing the appearance of fine lines, wrinkles, and sagging skin.

With PDO threads, the client achieves the look of a minimal facelift without the downtime of a surgical procedure. The skin is lifted by being pulled tightly into place with these specialty threads, creating new collagen in the treated areas for added plumpness and younger-looking skin. More fresh collagen in the skin equates to thicker and firmer skin with less laxity. So, you can think of PDO threads as a win-win that lifts and creates new collagen. While the results of PDO threads are dramatic, they aren't permanent and must be repeated every few years to maintain the results. However, most patients are so happy with the improvement that they're willing to support the upkeep to stay lifted and more defined.

Body Contouring

Body contouring treatments are non-invasive procedures that rely on FDA-approved injectable fillers, like Sculptra and Radiesse, to augment, enhance, and improve certain body parts, such as the arms, back, belly and flanks (love handles), buttocks, abdomen, and hips. While these uses are considered off-label, they are safer and more reliable than surgery. Body contouring reshapes an area of the body and can also be used to:

- Reduce the look of crepey skin and decrease skin laxity.
- Reshape or contour the area.
- Smooth out dimples.
- Eliminate contour irregularities and asymmetries.
- Increase the size of a particular feature.

LASERS

Laser Genesis

The Cutera XEO Laser Genesis treatment is a non-ablative laser that dramatically helps improve the appearance of aging skin by stimulating collagen and the skin's texture and tone. If an effective and convenient solution is what you're looking for, consider Laser Genesis.

Laser Genesis treats various skin conditions, including rosacea and its symptoms, broken capillaries, uneven skin texture, fine lines, and wrinkles. The most significant benefit of this laser is its ability to promote new collagen, which rejuvenates and refreshes the skin. Laser Genesis is different in that it gently heats the dermis to stimulate collagen, but it can also treat multiple concerns, like overall complexion, unwanted hair, and vascular lesions, so photoaging can be addressed at once.

Pricing

Best results for all laser treatments are seen after a series of sessions. Single sessions are not recommended.

IPL Laser Facial

IPL remains a tried-and-true treatment for erasing discoloration, hyperpigmentation, breakouts and scars, unwanted hair, broken capillaries and redness, and more. Today's IPL treatments are more advanced than ever and come with more versatile options to treat various skin conditions without compromising the uppermost layer of skin.

IPL Laser Facials are quick and easy treatments that use pulses of light to improve the appearance of discoloration, skin texture, and skin blemishes and imperfections caused by the sun and environmental damage or vascular-related changes. Patients enjoy the benefits of these quick treatments to improve skin tightness and stimulate collagen production while erasing facial veins, redness, and dark spots on the skin. Plus, IPL machines can eradicate unwanted hair from anywhere on the body.

At Ecobel, we use Cutera's Limelight IPL system, which offers more dramatic results when treating age-related skin changes, sun damage, and less-than-ideal skin tone and texture. The devices are also incredibly beneficial for improving the appearance of light skin tones with stubborn freckles, those with a more ruddy tone to their skin, and weathered-looking skin due to the sun. In addition to skin tone issues and discoloration, IPL Laser Facials improve the tautness of somewhat loose skin by stimulating collagen on the face, neck, chest, arms, and hands.

Pearl Resurfacing Laser by Cutera

The Pearl Laser treatment is an effective laser procedure that turns back time by stimulating the body's own collagen-producing process. The treatment plumps the skin below the surface resulting in the reversal of skin imperfections such as fine lines and deep wrinkles, acne and acne scarring, and many other types of skin damage—not only on the surface, but also the deeper layers of skin. The treatment is so effective because it treats the root of the problem, lack of collagen production, while correcting surface blemishes simultaneously. The Pearl Fractional Laser is the gold standard in aesthetic laser technology.

SKIN REJUVENATING TREATMENTS _____

Microneedling

Microneedling is a time-tested popular cosmetic procedure and one of the best minimally-invasive ways to stimulate collagen production and encourage natural healing. This of-the-moment skin-perfecting procedure can improve acne scars, enlarged pores, and even address hair loss.

Professional microneedling is far more effective and superior to at-home dermal rollers and can significantly improve the skin's surface and overall appearance, restoring its natural youthful appearance.

Most patients choose to have microneedling treatments on their faces, but the procedure works well on the body to improve the look of stretch marks on the thighs, stomach, or butt. Other body parts with scarring tend to respond well to microneedling. Microneedling is also ideal for all skin tones—even those with darker skin—because, like a laser, no heat or energy is delivered deep within the skin, which can potentially cause pigmentation on darker skin tones.

Some patients pair microneedling with stem cells, hyaluronic acid, or PRP (platelet-rich plasma) to help make the treatment more productive and have dramatic results while speeding up the healing process. Best of all, there's minimal downtime but the skin may be slightly red or dry post-treatment, although you can still go about your routine.

Pricing

The best results for microneedling are seen after at least 2 sessions.

Chemical Peels

Professional chemical peels have long been a go-to treatment to refresh the skin quickly and provide dramatic results. The goal of a chemical peel is to safely and gently lift away dead skin cells that can clog the pores and lead to a lackluster complexion. Ridding the skin's surface of this buildup makes it appear smoother, softer, and better equipped to reflect light properly, giving it a healthy, natural glow. Plus, fewer dead skin cells on the surface means there's less to clog up pores, which can cause breakouts.

Today's chemical peels are more advanced with more predictable results. Rather than leaving the skin red, peeling, and flaky, a light refresh can be achieved with little or no downtime, making chemical peels a must for many skin types and tones. No matter the skin issue, there's a chemical peel (many customizable) to help you achieve your skin goals. If smoother, more radiant, and healthier skin sits at the top of your skincare goals, then a chemical peel is one treatment you'll want to add to your current skincare routine.

At Ecobel Med Spa, we offer Dennis Gross Skincare and Sesderma chemical peels.

WELLNESS

Peptide Therapy

You are born with tons of stem cells and peptides that are naturally occurring in the body to help regulate your systems, promote proper functioning of all bodily functions, encourage optimal healing, and more. However, as you age, these stem cells and peptides rapidly decrease, which in turn, negatively affects your overall health and wellbeing. This is why reintroducing these peptides into your body as an adult is such an effective treatment in optimizing your health.

Peptide therapy is a popular treatment with regenerative properties that can help improve age-related effects on the body by boosting the natural production of a particular hormone, like human growth hormone. Regulating hormones help improve how the body heals and recovers overall, increase energy and strength, promote hair growth, and more. The treatment can treat many conditions, fight bacterial, viral, and fungal infections, and reduce oxidative stress.

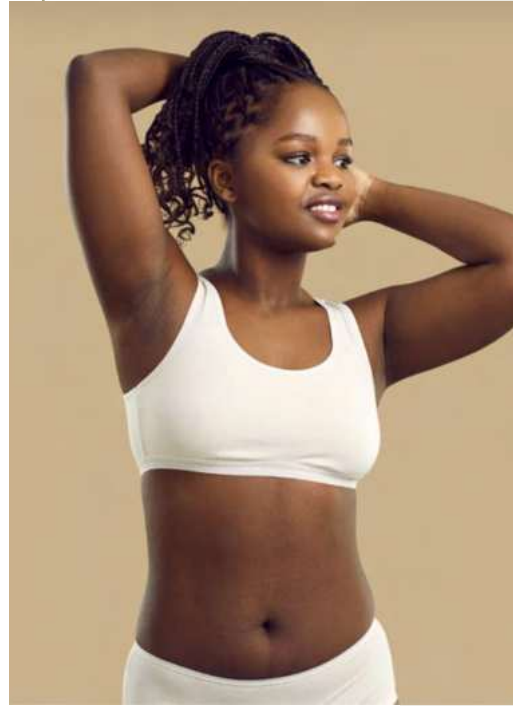

Peptide Therapy replaces or mimics the functions of naturally occurring peptides to rewrite your body's chemistry to promote restoration, anabolism, and homeostasis. These naturally occurring peptides act as signaling molecules within the body and instruct other cells and molecules on what functions to perform. It can improve the effects of bodily functions like digestion, metabolism, weight loss, sexual desire, inflammation, neuropathy, and age-related conditions.

Weight Loss

A weight loss program is designed to help you achieve your weight loss goals healthily and safely. These programs typically include a combination of diet, exercise, lifestyle elements with coached support. Now, these plans implement proven weight loss medications, like semaglutide, which helps jumpstart weight loss so you can achieve your goals.

Weight loss wellness programs are tailored to your individual needs and preferences. No two patients are the same, so how we help you reach your ideal weight should be customized. Our weight loss wellness program includes a combination of semaglutide and peptide therapy. We try to put every patient on semaglutide on at least one single peptide therapy because the results will be much more effective and efficient. Other vital nutrients, such as MIC or Lipo-B, are also used.

The treatment is tailored to your needs, so the cost varies. Our team can customize a package to help you obtain the desired results. Like semaglutide, which helps to jumpstart weight loss and help you create healthy eating habits that you turn into lasting lifestyle habits.

BHRT

The most effective treatment for fluctuating hormone levels is bioidentical hormone replacement therapy (BHRT), which utilizes manufactured hormones that the body uses the same way as natural hormones to counterbalance the effects of declining hormone levels. Customization of the hormones and their doses is critical for success with BHRT, which can be used in men and women looking for an improved sense of well-being internally and externally and an improved quality of life.

The ultimate goal of BHRT is to restore balance to the body so that it functions in its most optimal state. This is because there are so many hormones that the body relies on to create normalized activities, and when one is out of balance, it can affect the body negatively. That's why BHRT is such an effective solution for improving the effects of hormonal deficiencies that can have a domino effect on your body as a whole.

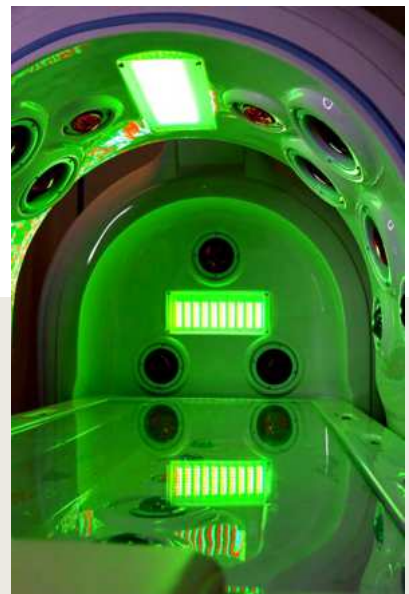

There are various ways to deliver hormones to the body, and the safest, most effective, reliable method is with pellets. Propel Pellet therapy provides consistent, healthy levels of hormones for 3 to 6 months, depending on the dosage. The hormones used in BHRT pellets are often naturally sourced from soy, yams, and even cactus to create the most natural match, helping people regain their strength, achieve better focus, enhance sexual function and diminish anxiety while balancing their immune systems and their lives.

Light Therapy

Light therapy, also known as phototherapy, has been a go-to for years because of its myriad of benefits and the data behind it. Professional light therapy pods are helpful for skin issues as well as those with chronic pain from arthritis as well as joint pain. By boosting cellular energy, the light delivered during these treatments can increase the rate—and efficacy—of how the body can heal itself. The light does not make physical contact with the skin, so there's no risk of burn, skin damage, or discomfort associated with the treatment. Specific wavelengths of light trigger changes in cells that affect how they function.

For many, light therapy is an innovative wellness practice that can improve areas of the body that have experienced injuries and never fully healed, including hard-to-eliminate joint or muscle pain. Light therapy can also optimize anti-aging efforts since it also helps with cellular turnover and collagen production.

Whitney S.

"The entire staff is incredible here. I have had my most recent experience with Ashley, and she's nothing short of the best at what she does. She's informative, gentle, professional, and accommodating on anything I have concerns or questions about. Within 4 weeks of my first treatment, I had a noticeable reduced jawline and a good two years taken off my face. Although there's plenty of work it still needs, she never made me feel insecure about things I have a difficult time with as far as self appearance. This industry is tricky, and she navigates it beautifully."

Heather C.

"Ecobel is hands down the BEST medical spa in Atlanta! The injectors are AMAZING..first time for fillers and I couldn't be happier! They were professional and so talented. My skin is glowing from the facial and I've never had a better pedicure."

Shay L.

"I love this med spa! The owner, Le Yen, is very kind, knowledgeable about skin, and she takes her time during treatment. Every time I come here I feel super relaxed after, and my skin glows. I highly recommend asking for a skin consult, so your facial can be customized for your concerns. During my last visit I purchased the YON KA skin care line for my skin type recommended by Le Yen, and I loved the results. The products have nourished and hydrated my dry skin and helped with the redness I experience on my cheeks. Le Yen educated me on my skin and how to care for it with the products and I really appreciated the care I felt. In addition to skin care they also do botox and lip injections. I recommend Ashley for all cosmetic procedures, she also takes her time, she's highly skilled, and she does a super natural job. Working with her for my lips has been painless, and a great experience! She's amazing! I can't say enough good things about Eco Bell!"
